

In recognition of National Dam Safety Awareness Day, May 31st, the Electric Department would like to promote and encourage individual and community responsibility for dam safety. Dams provide many benefits including water, power, flood control, recreation and economic opportunities. However, there are risks associated with dams, especially if a failure occurs. Everyone is encouraged to know their role, their risks and benefits, and take action, as dam safety is a shared responsibility. For further information visit the links below or contact the Electric Department at 747-4000.
